

H&S Faculty Participate in FDP on Global Logistics and Multimodal Transportation

Dr. A. Pavani and Ms. Baaku Manjula, faculty members of the Department of Humanities and Sciences, PVKK Institute of Technology, successfully participated in the One-Day Faculty Development Program on “Emerging Trends in Global Logistics and Multimodal Transportation” organized by the Department of Commerce and Management, Vijaya Vittala Institute of Management and Science, on 18th May 2026. The program focused on emerging developments in global logistics, supply chain management, transportation networks, and multimodal transportation systems, providing participants with valuable exposure to current industry practices and technological advancements.

Their participation in the Faculty Development Program reflects their commitment to continuous professional growth and academic excellence. The program offered a platform to enhance interdisciplinary knowledge, understand contemporary logistics challenges, and explore innovative solutions in transportation management. The Department of Humanities and Sciences appreciates their efforts in upgrading their professional competencies and contributing to the institution’s culture of lifelong learning and academic development.

