

Chai pe Charcha: A Thought-Provoking Discussion on Humanitarian Perspectives
On 19th March, the Humanities & Sciences Department recently organized a program titled Chai pe Charcha, a debate-like event aimed at discussing crucial humanitarian perspectives such as responsibility, tolerance, well-being, and compassion. The event served as a platform for participants to reflect on the role of individuals in shaping a compassionate and responsible society.

The program was graced by distinguished personalities, including Chairman Dr. Palle Venkata Krishna Kishore, Principal Dr. Bandi Ramesh Babu, and Administrative Officer Manohar Sir, who actively participated in the discussions. All the faculty members contributed their valuable insights, enriching the conversation. Dr. Lakshmi Narsappa, the convenor of the event, ensured the smooth conduct of the program, facilitating a productive exchange of ideas.
