

The Department of Humanities and Sciences at PVKK Institute of Technology celebrated National Science Day on 28th February 2025 with great enthusiasm. The event aimed to inspire young minds to explore the wonders of science through interactive and creative activities.

Students actively participated in poster presentations, face painting, and a quiz competition, showcasing their talent and scientific curiosity. The quiz competition tested their knowledge, while the poster presentations provided a platform to express innovative scientific ideas. The face painting event creatively depicted scientific concepts, making learning a fun and engaging experience.
